Free Choice for the World

I cannot make the correction instead of someone else. This is in the free choice of every person.

I can pass on to others about the system of correction, to explain how it works, but I can't make the correction instead of them. This is their free choice. We give what we can in explaining the system, but we have no control over the response of those listening. Our relation to the world is in order to improve ourselves and we can't make complaints about others' relations to the goal.
