The Correction of Creation

The correction of creation is the correction of the connection between man and the environment.

In the connection of man with the society, in uniting to it, he begins to discover all the Four Stages, the Partzufim (faces), and the forms of connection that The Zohar talks about. According to how much a person connects to the desires of others in "love your friend as yourself," he thus discovers the Light that fills these desires. This is called "the revelation of the Creator to the creature."

The correction of creation is the correction of the connection between man and the environment. This is what we must make efforts towards as is written in the Introduction of TES, letter 155. We must want to discover what we are learning about, and we are learning about the correction of creation in order to reveal the Light there, the Creator, as the goal of creation.
