Daily Kabbalah Tip

Advice in the daily Kabbalah lesson is recommended, practical tasks for advancing spiritually

To Run Before the Steamroller

From above, we are given the opportunity to run before the steamroller of development.

There is a force that is called “Light,” which has been developing the world since the Big Bang until today, along the path to the purpose of creation. All that develops according to the Light develops “in due time,” regardless of if it is wanted or not. From above, we were given the possibility to advance “before the time,” and to run before the steamroller of development that forces us to advance. If I continue on my own to that same purpose and I awaken my desire to this and increase it, then I gain a good feeling and a shortening of the way.

with each other, in connection and concession, in bestowal, and even with love towards each other. As long as we don't connect to this general system, where everyone feels the general desire and acts towards this desire, to fulfill and serve it, similar to the role of a cell in the body, then we don't feel the completeness and we will constantly feel the increasing problems which are actually those that push us toward that same completeness. This is called the knowledge of the Creator, where each and every one of us constitutes a Kli (vessel) to know.

This is actually the final state; if it doesn't occur, then we will not reach peace. It should be clear that from the beginning, from the thought of creation, "the end of the act is in the initial thought." This is the goal: where the created being, the point in the heart, will receive from the Creator the forces of bestowal and will become more sophisticated until he reaches the state where he is able to include within him the Light of Hochma (wisdom), which is called the knowledge of the Creator.
